

Churchill Trip Opens New Horizons To Students

These Centennial exchange tours may just have gone a bit too far. Twenty-four County of Vulcan students along with chaperones Don and Anne Green, were sent off on a trip to Churchill, Man. to enjoy the sights and sounds of another part of Canada and pick up some education in the process. This they did... moreover most of them made such warm friendships and were so impressed with Churchill that they'd go back in a minute and would think seriously of staying forever.

This may be wide-eyed 17-year-old unstable youth showing through but there's no doubt but what these young travellers have a warm spot in their hearts for the not-so-warm northern Churchill port. To read from daily logs of the students — or those parts available to the public — is an educating and interesting experience. Leaving Vulcan at 5:30 a.m. Monday, Aug. 16, the group spent a short time at Edmonton before departure for Winnipeg.

There they were met by Dave Hewlett, a Centennial commission guide, and on to an official reception by Joseph Martin, executive secretary of Manitoba's Centennial Commission. The Manitoba capital proved a highlight of the train trip and with most of a day there, going and coming, a chance to see the sights was provided. The University of Manitoba was toured and then on to the exclusive Holiday Sun and Swim Club for lunch, followed by a drive through some of the wealthy residential districts.

Seven Oak's House, the sight of a historic massacre during fighting between the North West Company and the Hudson Bay Company, was visited as was St. Boniface Basilica where they saw the grave of Louis Riel. It was at Winnipeg that the group were told they were the most smartly attired, neatest of seven exchange tours which had been through the city this summer.

The 978 miles from Winnipeg to Churchill was covered with one major stop at The Pas Wednesday morning from where they ran out of mixed farming and into the more barren, treeless rock strewn terrain typical of Churchill country. At their arrival at Churchill at 8:30 in the morning they were greeted by civic dignitaries, presented with miniature mukluks, introduced to their billets and began a eight day round of entertainment and tours.

Student exchange co-ordinator Mr. Hermanson had arranged trips to the many points of interest at Churchill and a Mrs. Ingerbritson, with her ready knowledge of almost any subject dealing with historic sites, quickly became a favorite of the group.

Those unfamiliar may be surprised to learn there is the port town of Churchill located at the mouth of the Churchill River on the west side of Hudson Bay, which supports about 3,500 and also Fort Churchill, a military establishment with approximately 2,500 population, located about five Services will be held at the Vulcan United Church on Friday, Sept. 17, at 2:00 p.m., with Rev. Wellington Dornier officiating. Interment will be in the Vulcan cemetery. Pall bearers will be Barry Campbell, John Campbell, Irwin Hughes, Ronald Hughes, Allan Hurl and Floyd MacDonald.

Church History Traced At Guild Meeting

The regular meeting of the Anglican Ladies Guild was held in the church hall with 13 ladies present and Mrs. Art Fitzpatrick presiding.

The Rev. Cowell talked to the gathering on Church History and traced the church from the beginning of Christianity. He explained the Anglican Book of Common Prayer and it was interesting to note that 300 years ago the Prayer Book was written in Latin but now it is written in the language of the country. The Service of Morning Prayer will be discussed next month.

Plans were completed for the annual rummage sale which will be held in the church basement, Oct. 23. Warm clothing for young and old will be the main feature but the varied rummage will be there as usual. Ladies are asked to leave rummage at the church as soon as possible. Free hot coffee will be served.

Plans were also made for the Christmas tea, bake table and bazaar which will be held November 27.

The Rev. Cowell expressed pleasure to the response of the young people in the Jack and Jill Club. This is a club promoting culture and is open to all confirmed youth. Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hughes and Miss E. Goss of the local teaching staff are counsellors.

The next meeting will be held in the Church Hall on October 27 with Mrs. Arthur Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Ron Buehler as hostesses.

The home was beautifully decorated with large golden mums and yellow roses.

No Break In Sight

There have been only one or two days of harvesting weather in the past four weeks and most of this year's wheat and crops are still in the fields, soaked by last week's snowstorm and almost daily rain showers.

A week of good drying weather is needed before harvesting can be resumed. Loss of grade can be expected due to bleaching and frost.

The Wheat Pool crop reports received this week by the Advocate show the following percentage figures of crops swathed and threshed at the various points in the county.

Armada 90% swathed, 20% threshed; Arrowwood 80-83, Shoultice 35-10, Travers 85-15, Milo 75-5, Ensign 50-nil, Kirkcaldy 100-nil, Queenstown 95-2, Heronston 98-3, Lomond 90-25, Vulcan 55-5, Peacock 80-nil, Brant 90-nil, Champion 98-nil.

Depleted Pheasant Supply Aided By Second Release

Opening of pheasant season is less than a month away, Oct. 15. All summer, to sportsmen and farmers driving grass-filled country ditches searching for heads of pheasants, it has looked like a very few pheasants were going to see an awful lot of action, presuming they stay alive.

This bleak picture was brightened somewhat last week, though, when 900 birds were released from east of Champion to north-west of Vulcan by the Provincial Game Hatchery at Brooks.

Through the efforts of the Vulcan and District Fish and Game Association and because of the serious loss of pheasant population last winter in the county, two releases have been made in this area this year. The first occurred during June when over 200 roosters and hens were freed and this recent release brings the total to 1120 with a 50-50 split in each sex.

Jerry Pelchin, head of the Brooks hatchery brought birds over in lots of 300 hitting the Champion area Sat., Sept. 11 and working towards Vulcan Monday and Tuesday. Tuesday afternoon Bert Freeman, game officer from High River, Glen Dahl, past-president of the local fish and game group and Corporal Pete Thachik of Vulcan RCMP detachment accompanied Mr. Pelchin on the local release, and the birds are reported to be in healthy condition. They are just starting to color.

Most of these birds hadn't flown before and many had lost their tail feathers through tramping in the close quarters of the rearing pens and it was quite a sight to watch their first solo attempt. With no rudder control they winged all over the sky and one bird who just couldn't get airborne finally took off on foot for his new home. This is no problem according to Mr. Pelchin as they will quickly grow new tail gear.

Evidence of successful nesting of the earlier release of pheasants was found in the odd group of 20 to 25 birds near the site of their freedom.

Up to this time a total of 3500 pheasants have been released by the Brooks hatchery. Most have come to the southern part of the province but 1000 have been sent to the Camrose area on an experimental basis.

LAST SUMMER. It's almost gone now but the season of lush green grass, vegetable and flower gardens was one of the longest and most successful in recent years. Above old-timer Ed Finekh is shown admiring some special blooms in his flower garden at his home in town.

THE FALL USE OF AGRICULTURAL CHEMICALS
 There are at least three situations on farms in Western Canada at the present time that would warrant the careful consideration of the use of agricultural chemicals.

The first is for the control of weeds, particularly perennial weeds such as Canada Thistle on fallow. Using about 1 pound of 2,4-D per acre on the fallow in the fall does a good job of controlling perennial weeds and will leave a certain amount of volunteer grain, wild oats and so on, which will do no harm to the fallow, but will protect it from erosion. This, combined with the dead broad-leaved weeds, can form a reasonably satisfactory protection for the fallow and will certainly assist in protecting the soil where the trash cover present is inadequate.

The second situation is on crop land which is to be fallowed next year. Here again an application of 2,4-D this fall will do a good deal to set back and weaken the growth of perennial weeds and will take the place of at least one full cultivation. Experimental results from our research stations indicated that a tall stubble, on a field to be fallowed next year, will increase the moisture content of the soil by 3 or 4 inches as compared to a field which has been cultivated and the stubble laid down flat. Their findings indicate that, this saving of moisture during the winter is extremely important, as there is more moisture saved during the fall and winter months, in many cases, than there is during the full summer of the fallow season.

The third instance is where a field has been cropped this year and will be cropped again next year. Weed control and moisture conservation are both important under these circumstances. Here again leaving the stubble upright to collect snow, will greatly enhance the possibility of a good crop next year. 2,4-D applied to weed growth in such fields, instead of cultivation, will set back the weeds drastically and at the same time allow the stubble to hold snow and add to the moisture content of the field next year.

Erosion by both wind and water is causing serious soil losses in Western Canada every year. We cannot afford to lose this valuable top soil and anything we can do to prevent erosion and at the same time conserve extra moisture, will pay off in higher yields, not only next year, but in the future.

Don't spot-clean with gas. Heavier than air vapours drift down to the basement and may be ignited by the pilot light.

Hook & Hackle Philosophy Is Outlined

Bill Lethby and Glen Dahl, past president of Vulcan and District Fish and Game Association are members of the Calgary Hook and Hackle Club and in a recent news letter an interesting outline of true sport fishing, is included. Hook and Hackle members are all fly fishermen and the art of fly tying and the love of this type of fishing are the important reasons for bringing these men together.

The philosophy expressed in this article and which is the creed of such organizations follows:

"We believe that trout fishing isn't just fishing for trout. It's fishing for sport rather than for food where the true enjoyment of the sport lies in the challenge, the lure and the battle of wits, not necessarily the full creel. It's the feeling of satisfaction that comes from limiting your kill instead of killing your limit. It's communing with nature where the chief reward is a refreshed body and a contented soul, where a license is a permit to use — not abuse, to enjoy — not destroy our trout waters. It's subscribing to the proposition that what's good for trout is good for trout fisherman and that managing trout for the trout rather than for the trout fisherman is fundamental to the solution of our trout problems. It's appreciating our trout, respecting fellow anglers and giving serious thought to tomorrow."

City Wedding For Marvin McCullough

A lovely wedding was solemnized at the Southminster United Church in Calgary on Sept. 11 when Carol Diane Ashmead, youngest daughter of Thomas Ashmead of 2126 51st Ave. S.W., Calgary and Marvin Leonard McCullough, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McCullough of Vulcan were united in marriage.

The bride was beautiful in a floor length, empire line, white satin gown with slight train and a full length veil trailing from a beaded pearl tiara and carrying a bouquet of red roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Sharon Lee of 602 58th Ave. S.W. wore a lovely street-length gown of lime-green satin with a yellow rose corsage, while the little flower girl, Stephanie Shust of Vulcan was dressed in yellow tulle, with her pretty ringlets topped and caught with a small flowered tiara and carried a bouquet of yellow mixed flowers.

The groom was attended by David Shust of Vulcan.

As the bride took her place beside the groom in front of the altar, Miss Lyn McCullough, sister of the groom sang a beautiful rendition of the "Wedding Prayer". After the ceremony, while the register was being signed, Lyn sang "I Love You Truly".

After the wedding a reception was held at the Hepburn Motor Hotel on Macleod Trail where the bride and groom received many lovely and useful gifts. The young couple will take up residence in Calgary.

Couple To Reside On Arrowwood Farm

A pretty wedding was solemnized on July 24 at the Vulcan United Church, when Kathleen Dorothy Knife, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Knife of Vulcan, exchanged vows with Alan Hale Ingraham, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyden Ingraham of Arrowwood, before an altar flanked with baskets of pink and white flowers. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Bruce Fyke.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of satin peau de soie featuring a flowing train, lily point sleeves and a lace trimmed rounded neckline. The chapel veil fell from a coronet of lace which matched that on the dress. She carried a nosegay of red roses and lily of the valley with a cascade of buds. The bride's only jewellery was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Marian Flanders, sister of the bride, was matron of honor; bridesmaids were Mrs. Margaret Lomheim, sister of the groom and Mrs. Louise Schmidt, who were identically dressed in floor length gowns of aqua shantrice with matching shoes and head pieces. They carried nosegays of pink and white carnations.

The groom was attended by his brother, Gordon. Ushers were Ivor Oberholtzer and Gordon Leadbeater. The mother of the bride was seated by the bride's young brother, Roy.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Knife chose flowered pink silk sheath with pink and white accessories. Her corsage was white roses. The groom's mother wore a blue and white linen worsted suit with blue and white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The wedding music was played by William Tompkins and during the signing of the register Mrs. Betty Kehr sang "Because".

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor for 120 guests. Mrs. Joyce House was in charge of the guest book. The head table was decorated with pink and white bells and streamers and tall white candles. In the centre was a three-tiered wedding cake, which had been beautifully decorated by Mrs. Ella Hayes.

Walter Leadbeater was master of ceremonies. Neil Hughes of Onorway proposed the toast to the bride. Ivor Oberholtzer gave the toast to the bridesmaids, which was replied to by Gordon Ingraham.

Telegrams were read from London, England and Boston, Mass. For a honeymoon at Banff and Jasper the bride wore a navy suit with white accessories. Her corsage was talisman roses. The happy couple are making their home on the groom's farm near Arrowwood. Out-of-town guests were from Lethbridge, Calgary, Red Deer, Edmonton, Swift Current, Landon, Onoway, Mossleigh and Arrowwood.

The Canada Pension Plan and its benefits

Here is what the Canada Pension Plan will do for people like Huguette Samson, a 22-year-old married woman who earns $56.50 a week.

Huguette and her husband, who is earning $4,200 a year, hope that Huguette will work for a few years before family needs require her attention full time.

Assuming that Huguette does just this, her contributions to the Plan will benefit her in several ways. For example, if she works only for another five years, at age 65 she will receive a small retirement pension of $8.38 a month in addition to her $75 a month Old Age Security.

Through her husband's contributions to the Plan, should he die when they have three young children, Huguette would receive a widow's pension of $57.81 a month plus $25 a month for each child—a total of $132.81 a month. She would also receive a lump sum payment of $500.

At age 65, based upon both her own and her husband's contributions she would receive a pension of $57.53 a month plus $75 a month Old Age Security—a total of $132.53.

If she decided to supplement her income at any time by returning to work, she could still receive the widow's and orphan's benefits, could substantially increase her retirement pension, and could also ensure her entitlement to a disability pension if she became disabled.

All benefits under the Plan will maintain their value. The actual benefits payable will probably be higher than those given here since benefits will be adjusted to meet changes in living costs and in wage levels before they are paid and changes in living costs after they become payable.

What will the Plan cost you?

If you are employed and, like Huguette, have earnings of $2,938 spread evenly over the year, you will pay at the rate of 81¢ a week. Your employer will pay the same amount.

This advertisement is one of a series which relates some of the important benefits of the Canada Pension Plan to individual circumstances.

Issued by authority of the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Canada,
The Honourable Judy LaMarsh.

P. M. Pickersgill, Assistant Editor

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sept. 13th, 1965
Vulcan, Alta.

Editor, The Advocate.

Dear Sir:

I would like to bring up a subject which should stir up quite a controversy but one which I feel should be discussed and possibly understood a little more before it is too late. It is about our proposed Recreation Centre. I might say right here that I am all for it as I have children growing up in this community and feel there is a great need for this type of thing.

Now I have never attended a meeting of the Recreation Centre but have discussed the subject with many who have and more who haven't; many who like myself are all for it and then again those who are very much against it. From both sides I feel the arguments for it outweigh those against, but if any of those who are against can give me a logical reason I am certainly willing to listen.

A few of the arguments go like so:

There are some farmers who say sure the town starts something and are always coming to us for the donations and work. Who comes to the town for donations for FUA bonspiels, or expects the merchants to buy a calf at their calf sales, etc.? Now we are not complaining but I do believe this should be considered before they argue too much. If some of them would only work with the public just six months and were approached for donations as often, they would soon realize just how much the town supports different charities and organizations with many farmer members. I know I was brought up on a farm and really got an awakening after working in town for awhile. Then they argue we wouldn't be able to use it anyway as we live too far out to be driving our children in and out of these different activities. How many of them will drive miles for something for their own pleasure but have no time for their children? If the town gets the grant and borrows the money the responsibility ends for the farmer in the end anyhow.

So the town citizens say sure, the town borrows the money and our taxes go up. It would only amount to two or three dollars a year anyway, so why use this for an excuse?

Some of the older people complain that they haven't any children so why should they have to donate anything or pay taxes? I heard one very good statement from a grandfather: "Every generation should build something for the next generation," which I think is a wonderful outlook to take. Not only that but if we can look forward to the time when we will have banquet rooms with proper facilities and accommodation for such events as the senior citizens' dinners, Board of Trade luncheons, etc., it will certainly be a wonderful advantage for all ages combined. If you have ever tried to cater to any of these events I'm sure most would agree.

Something else I just heard the other day, that there was to be a licensed lounge. Now I asked a couple of members about this and got a very definite no. There will possibly be occasions when they would get permits but they do this in our halls now so it would be no different than it is now.

These people who complain about our children running the streets should really stop and take a good look at what could be done. I was talking to a couple who moved to a town in Southern Alberta recently and they have a Recreation Centre there. They said there is some activity going on there every night for children of all ages as well as for adults. I've heard it said that we were just thinking of ourselves and our banquet rooms, meeting rooms, etc., the children would probably never get a chance to use it, but I believe the example of some of these other towns should be heeded. Why not have it for everyone, it just might help a few families do things together.

We have already spent $30,000.00 are we now going to let that go down the drain? If we turn this down it will be years and years before we ever get a chance to vote on it again. Some of you parents ask your children their views on it. I know in one particular case where the parents are against it, but just talk to their teenage daughter about it.

Look at our swimming pool! At the time it was built it was a big project for a town our size and from what I gather there was just this same debate over it. Maybe it isn't as big as it could be now but look at the number of children who have really learned something of value there, as well as the many, many hours of pleasure our children did and still do get out of it.

There are so many more things I could say and there are probably arguments against which are just as reasonable, but where are you going to get a project which has everything one hundred percent right or wrong. I've tried to generalize on my criticism, I know there are many farmers, senior citizens and town citizens who have donated time and money to this project.

Please let's really give this some thought, don't just sit back with the attitude that we don't care. If you are against it argue about it, maybe someone can give you a reason for it and something constructive will come of it. If you are for it let's see if we can show where it would be a benefit for our community, it's citizens big and small, old and young alike.

If I may repeat myself we will be a good many years without, if we turn this down, but will have something that will benefit this town for many, many years if we go ahead now.

—Vulcan Resident.

A Statement on Medicare

At Ottawa the subject of Medicare has often been discussed and my position has always been sympathetic to the objective of providing the best possible medical service for all the people, but I have consistently opposed the features of compulsion in the proposed Federal Government scheme. The individual wants the right to choose his doctor, and the doctor in turn must have the freedom to practice his profession as he best knows how. Hence, any system which takes away these rights is fundamentally wrong. A good start has been made on a workable voluntary patient-doctor relationship as possible. I have talked with a large number of people in the Macleod Riding as well as at Ottawa, and it is my view that the people, when fully informed, will favour a voluntary system.

Of which all persons interested are hereby notified, and they are required to govern themselves accordingly.

JACK DEITZ, Reeve.

Dated at Vulcan, Alta., this 20th day of September, 1965.

INSTRUCTIONS TO PROPRIETARY ELECTORS IN A COUNTY

A poll may be demanded in a County by a demand signed by

- (a) five proprietary electors, or
- (b) fifty per cent of the proprietary electors, whichever is the lesser number, of each of at least twenty per cent of the districts in the County.

The demand for a poll shall be in the form prescribed by the Minister and must be delivered to the secretary of the County or, in his absence, to the Reeve, within fifteen days after the date of posting or of the last publication in a newspaper of this notice.

Proprietary elector means an elector who is liable to assessment and taxation for school purposes in respect for property situated in the County.

WINTER SCENE AT FORT CHURCHILL.

miles distance along the shoreline. About half way between these points is the Eskimo settlement Akudlik, "half white, half Eskimo life".

Also there is in the area a naval radio station set up on pillars sunk into the permafrost, Fort Prince of Wales, Cape Merry, a Rocket Research Station, and other interesting attractions.

The visitors were soon introduced to such commonplace features as sled dogs, sleds, winter parkas, mukluks and most sensational, the 100 per cent aurora which actually flows through the night skies in its changing patterns.

Although weather at times was described as warm and summery the Albertans felt the chill and only a few brave enthusiasts jumped into the salty ocean for a quick dip.

A trip through a whaling plant left one small local tour of students flecked with blood and somewhat stunned by the aroma as they watched 12 foot whales being skinned, butchered and then the waste ground for fox meat and the other by-products rendered.

Another highlight was a tour the 5,000,000 bushel grain terminal with bins the size of auditoriums and shipping capacity of 60,000 bushels per hour into vessels drawn up along side. Students were taken aboard the Norwegian freighter Jarabella and watched grain being loaded. Some students were able to go out on a small boat to meet the freighter as it approached the harbor.

Students found lots of motorbikes in use at Churchill and many cars, although shipping costs make them an expensive luxury, along with 62 cents a gallon for number one gasoline.

Another oddity is at Fort Churchill where many rows of apartments are joined by corridors which give protection during the severe winters. Also services at Fort Churchill are located in a tunnel beneath sidewalks and are kept from freezing by a heated pipe.

Fort Prince of Wales, located across the point from Churchill, was reached by a canoe-styled boat over rough water. Construction of this fort by the Hudson Bay Company as a protective measure against sea intruders was begun in 1731 and completed about 1771 or 1772. It was captured by the French and partially destroyed and in later years it came back under British rule. More recently the outer walls have been restored and it is now a historic site.

Eskimo living standards are reasonable at Churchill as they appear to make an effort towards self improvement however the Indian element appears to be satisfied living in squalor and existing on welfare cheques.

Our provincial representatives must have created their own impression with their hosts. From the Taiga Times newspaper appeared a story describing the Albertans which read in part "All were dressed in neat attractive light blue blazers and all were grade 12 students from Alberta. The group were keen in their interest and would compare quite favourably, at first glance with earlier groups of university students who have visited Churchill in various stages of dishabille. Certainly there were no indications of sloppy attire, unkempt hair or straggling beards. The group stayed well together, walked with erect carriage answered and asked questions in highly intelligent and polite manner. It was hard — almost impossible — to believe ones eyes and ears . . . but mighty welcome to behold."

Will Maintain Cemetery At Reid Hill

The September meeting of the Reid Hill W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. John French, last Thursday, with Mrs. Earl Deal as assisting hostess.

Mrs. French, the president, presided and was assisted by secretary, Mrs. Jack Marshall. Mrs. Kuykendall gave the treasurer's report.

The punctuality draw was won by Mrs. A. Sales.

Correspondence was very light and routine business matters were discussed. Members were reminded of the bake-sale and sale of novelties to be held next month.

Mrs. Marshall reported that she had interviewed Mr. McQueen, secretary for the County of Vulcan re care and maintenance of the Reid Hill cemetery. Mr. McQueen had assured Mrs. Marshall that plans were already under way on this project. He did ask that names of those interested there be sent in to the County office, so that a record would be available to anyone inquiring about the cemetery.

A most interesting paper on Agriculture as it pertains especially to the growing of flowers was given by Mrs. McRoberts and a panel discussion followed.

Roll Call was "Name a Famous Canadian" and was very interesting.

At the close of the business session a delicious hot lunch was served by the hostesses.

Pioneer Couple

The reception was from 2 to 5 when a delicious lunch was served the guests with Mrs. Roy Clarkson pouring tea.

Close friends and relatives were served a full course dinner from 7 to 9 on the lawn.

Relatives and friends from Portland, Seattle, Vancouver, Edmonton, Black Diamond, Turner Valley and Vulcan were guests that day. Mr. and Mrs. Rench were the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

Mr. Rench came to the Vulcan district from Ohio in 1910 and Mrs. Rench (nee Minnie Carry) came from Manitoba in 1906.

Mr. and Mrs. Rench were married in Vulcan by Reverend Brown at the old Presbyterian manse on Aug. 24, 1915. They resided on the farm near Vulcan until 1928 when they moved to Nanton where they resided several years, after which they moved to Calgary, where they have lived ever since.

They have four children, Claris, Robert, Richard and Phyllis, 10 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Rench enjoy good health and their friends wish them many more happy anniversaries. They enjoy their friends visiting them and the old saying, "Come often to thy neighbour's door lest weeds choke the unused pathway", is their wish to you.

Shower Honors Recent Bride

A miscellaneous bridal shower was held recently at the Vulcan Church of Christ in honor of Miss Leone Jones of Calgary. The ladies of the Berrywater FWUA and the Candlelight Circle were joint hostesses. The church hall was prettily decorated in white and blue. Following two amusing contests, conducted by Mrs. Reg Stein and Mrs. Vic Rushfeldt, Mrs. Russel Smith, accompanied by Mrs. Joe Gerding, sang two lovely solos.

Seated at the head table with Leone were her mother, Mrs. Leonard Jones, of Alix, Miss Karen Smith, and Miss Pamela Lowrie. A floral centrepiece was presented to Leone on behalf of the hostesses. Carolyn and Marilyn Webber, as

Mission Tour Includes Colombia, Ecuador

Today 28 men and women from United States, New Zealand and Canada find it hard to believe that the memories they have of their summer are memories of real experiences rather than of fanciful dreams. A few months ago they would not have believed that they actually would be eating and sleeping in the same rooms that pigs and chickens ate and slept in. Nor would they have believed that they would be travelling down a river in the black of night with only a native guide, whose experience taught him how to avoid danger without the aid of moonlight or lamp. They would have found it hard to believe that they would be driving on one-lane mountain roads which accommodate two-way traffic, and they would not have cared to look out the side of a bus to see nothing but sheer cliff for several hundreds of feet below and above. The thought of bargaining with Indians for a finely woven woollen shawl in spite of the language barrier would have caused them to smile.

However, these were the experiences of Sandra Scheierman and the 27 others who toured Colombia and Ecuador for two weeks under a program known as Men for Missions, a laymen's branch of the Oriental Missionary Society. The group of teachers, doctors, pastors, nurses, business men, professional musicians, farmers and students met on Sunday, July 25, in Miami, Florida and the same evening found themselves in the different world of Bogota, Colombia. Their opportunities to exercise the feeble phrases memorized from a Spanish "Teach-Yourself" book began, but most of the verbal contact were better established through missionaries who acted as interpreters.

The first week of the tour was spent in Colombia; the second in Ecuador. Boats, planes, trains and buses carried the group from place to place where individuals saw first hand the Christian mission at work in these lands of contrast.

Extremes of almost every phase of life were witnessed in Latin America. In the growing city of Medellin a spacious beautifully-landscaped finca pleased the eye, but in parts of the coastal city of Guayaquil split bamboo houses were held above the tide by only a few shaky poles in street after street of poverty and filth.

Landscapes varied from bare windswept Andean heights with towering snow-capped peaks still higher, to lush ever-green rain forests in the coastal lowlands.

One night the visitors rested on comfortable beds in pleasant hotel rooms above noisy city streets and harbours, but the next night they tried to adjust to straw mats and hammocks in dirt-floored, adobe-walled houses of a small village far up the Magdalena River where only some distant jungle sound broke the night stillness.

Hot, humid afternoons in the lowlands convinced the panting, perspiring travellers to discard fashionable clothing in favor of comfortable apparel. But the chilly mountain air of Quito turned their minds to woolen sweaters in spite of the fact that they were just a few miles south of the equator.

Rich chocolate or delicious fresh fruit grown in the area made mouths water, but some of the native foods wrapped and baked in a green leaf did not look or taste quite so appetizing.

There were various paces of life too. In one place a dark-skinned driver unhurriedly prodded his slow burro under a bundle of firewood. But not too far away a determined city collective (bus) driver took his load of jostling, purseclutching passengers in and out fast city traffic, around sharp curves and up narrow, winding streets.

The white foreigners will not soon forget the warm friendly smiles of school children and adults throughout the countries. But neither will they fail to remember the stoical stares of the Saraguro Indians living high in the desolate cold mountains.

Countless contrasts and sights, too numerous to list, impressed the Men for Missions group. The beautiful and the ugly; the fragrant and the nauseating; the rich and the poor; the old and the new; the encouraging and the despairing. Challenges were on the minds and in the hearts of the visitors as they left this culture so unlike their own to return to the United States on Aug. 7.

They returned with understanding rather than pity, and with a desire to help the people they had seen help themselves. They realized more than ever before that this understanding and desire to help can best be exercised through channels of Christian service — prayer, support and participation.

Sandra stayed two extra weeks at the mission headquarters in Guayaquil, Ecuador, working at various odd jobs and teaching conversational English to Spanish young people and adults in a Night Cultural Institute. To and from Miami she travelled by bus through four provinces and 20 states and spent time in various

BRANT

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Henolt of Seattle were recent visitors in the district visiting among others their cousins Henry Bateman and Mrs. Lola Knapp.

UNITED CHURCH WOMEN

The regular meeting of the Brant United Church women was held on September 10 with 10 members present. The meeting was opened with a hymn. Then Mrs. Eva McKay read an article from the United Church Observer which was followed by a general discussion. The president, Mrs. Una Burley, took the chair for the business part of the meeting.

The correspondence consisted of a report from the Presbytery on the amount taken in for the M & M fund so far this year. A tentative date of October 27 was set for the fall tea and bazaar.

Mrs. Jean Olsen reported that the allocation had been sent to the Indians at Duffield and listed some of the articles that are needed in Korea.

A number of articles for the bazaar were turned in to Mrs. Graham who agreed to take charge of them. Following the benediction, a lovely lunch was served by Mrs. Gwen Christofferson and Mrs. Una Burley.

ARROWWOOD

Correction: Gerald Arney received the A award for Metals 10 and Ruth Holoboff received the A Award for Shorthand 30, Office Practice 30, Business Machine 30. Mrs. Ruth McBride, Gardiner, Ore., has been visiting in the district the past week.

Henry Weibe who is a patient in the Vulcan Hospital.

Karen Burris, Sam Burger, Gene House and Bob Cockwill left this week to attend the University of Alberta, Calgary.

Donna Williams spent a few days with Mrs. Ron Wilson and attended Shirley Yule's wedding.

The weather has been very discouraging with rain and snow nearly every day last week. There is a lot of swathing to be done yet and there is practically no combining done.

The Lions Club held its regular meeting on Thursday night. A suggested date for the Charter Night was November 20.

REPORT FROM EDMONTON

(by J. Wally Strang)

It's election time . . . that's about the only item that stirs the blood of government members these days.

The friends of friends who have friends are all busy soliciting funds for the various parties and if you happen to be dinged within the next few weeks keep in mind that a donation is not always the best way to support the candidate.

We in the press gallery have seen it happen year after year . . . and there is nothing so embarrassing to a member of government than to have someone ask a favor and two seconds later suggest that he is a party supporter.

It's unfortunate that so much money must be found to conduct a campaign . . . but as long as the voter continues to sit back and wait to be informed . . . the onus is on the candidate to go to the voter . . . and this costs money.

For the record . . . look for the NDP to crack the Conservative stronghold here in the frost belt. The Liberals are still in the fog so far as politicians are concerned . . . but time will tell.

CAR TIME

It's that time of the year when the major car companies try to go one better than the other in introducing their new models. Attended a couple of shows which in this writer's opinion did nothing for the automobiles . . . but did a lot for the girls. . . Personally I think the Meteors and Mercurys are going to set the pace in '66.

Speaking of cars . . . hear through the grapevine . . . that some dealers are not happy the way the government buys autos at cost price and then sells them in competition with regular dealers. They say the dealer has no alternative, because the manufacture directs the dealers to sell to the government at cost . . . then they look after these vehicles . . . which come back to haunt them by competing for the taxpayer dollar. Someone somewhere said that

FREE ENTERPRISE is always first in Alberta . . . but some are beginning to wonder if this only applies to those who have connections. . . Look for things to happen during the next month. That government vehicle could soon cost as much as yours.

A SWEET SPILL

Those who have been lamenting the numerous rainbows in the district can take heart.

While you may not have found the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow you could quite conceivably find a pot of honey this week.

A large truck enroute from Claresholm to Brooks loaded with this sweet slipped off a curve in the eastern part of the district upsetting all its cargo into the ditch.

Fortunately the driver escaped injury.

Couple Exchanges Vows At Vulcan United Church

The Vulcan United Church was the scene of a late summer wedding when Sandra Darlene, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beatty of Vulcan became the bride of Allan Ralph Jordan, also of Vulcan. Rev. Wellington Dormer officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father as organist Bill Tompkins played "Praise, My Soul, The King of Heaven." They were preceded by flower girls, little Heather Beatty and bridesmaid Linda Beatty, sisters of the bride, while Miss Charlayne Richards attended as maid-of-honor. The groom was attended by Lee Somerville and ushers were Kenneth Beatty and John Campbell.

Before the ceremony Miss Dora Campbell, cousin of the groom sang "O Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register she offered "Wedding Benediction".

The bride was lovely in a floor length gown of tulle lace. The fitted bodice was lightly touched with mother-of-pearl and she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. Her chapel veil was held in place by tiny glistening roses and white carnations. Her attendants' matching gowns of tulle, while Miss Charlayne Richards attended as maid-of-honor. The groom was attended by Lee Somerville and ushers were Kenneth Beatty and John Campbell.

gladioli. They carried bouquets of white and turquoise carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Beatty chose an ivory sheath, complemented by rose accessories. The groom's mother wore a beige and white outfit with turquoise accessories. Both ladies wore red roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Vulcan Lodge Hall. Rev. Dormer asked a blessing and Albert Beatty, an able master-of-ceremonies, proposed a toast to the bride, to which the groom fittingly responded. Lee Somerville proposed a toast to the bridesmaids.

After cutting the cake, the bride and groom served each of their guests.

For their wedding trip to Waterton Lakes, the bride changed to an aqua sheath with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordan are at home to their friends at Gleichen, Alberta.

Out-of-town guests were from Regina, Prelate and Leader, Sask., Golden, B.C., Red Deer, Calgary, Gleichen and Champion.

Sooner or later every home will have but one cover per bed and it will be an electric blanket.

People who love wool and down comforters may cling to them for old times sake, but only by choice. The electric blanket gives thermostatically controlled warmth without weight, has fool-proof safety features, and is easily cared for.

C.A.C. research indicates that while all Canadian brands tested passed 10 different safety requirements; for other reasons the most expensive brand was the best value for the money.

This brand provided steady warmth when room temperature fluctuated. After five launderings it showed less shrinkage and less "shifting" or "looping" of the heating element than did the other makes.

Heat is supplied to an electric blanket from an insulated element running up and down between two layers of fabric. Washing does not cause damage to wiring but in cheaper brands shrinkage may cause the element to loop across itself giving less uniform warmth.

Electric blankets can have either a single or dual heating control. The latter should solve the ancient universal problem of locating two people who like the same heat at the same time.

Electric Blanket care is simple. The part containing the element should not be tucked under the mattress. Most have corner snaps at the bottom to hold the blanket in place.

Washing instructions are usually included at time of purchase.

General procedure is to wrap and tie the blanket plug in a washcloth to keep it from flopping and banging about.

If the binding is badly soiled, it can be brushed with a concentrated detergent solution.

Leave the blanket to soak in warm suds for 15 minutes, then agitate for one minute only. Rinse in warm water and spin dry. If using a wringer machine hold the blanket lengthwise and put it through the wringer using light pressure.

To dry in automatic dryer add three or four clean bath towels to cushion the blanket. Do not over-dry. Remove from dryer while just slightly damp, straighten ends and finish drying on clothesline or on flat surface.

To dry on clothesline, hang over double lines and straighten edges. When half dry change position on line. After completion of drying, brush up the nap with a soft brush.

Enjoy your electric blanket, but keep that old comforter handy. It hasn't even heard of power failure.

CONSIDER THE FACTS

TYPE OF BUILDING—

Cinder block construction, size 250 ft. x 125 ft. The front portion will consist of basement, ground floor and second storey, each 120 ft. x 50 ft. in dimensions. The arena area (which is planned for a later stage of construction) will be 200 ft. x 125 ft. with an ice surface of 200 ft. x 80 ft. (The Society already owns the artificial ice plant equipment).

The Scout-Guide organization has requested facilities in the whole basement or a portion thereof and is willing to contribute financial assistance for the completion of this portion of the building.

FACILITIES AND ACCOMMODATION—

Banquet and auditorium facilities adequate for large gatherings.

Commercial shows and displays.

Hockey, figure skating, carnivals.

Hobbycraft such as painting and metal tooling, club meetings, etc.

Activities which can be accommodated in the building are almost unlimited — only a few have been mentioned above.

USE OF BUILDING—

This building is intended for the use of everyone in the community — young and old alike — on a year-round basis. It is stressed that there will be no age limitation.

It is also stressed that there are definitely NOT going to be facilities for a licensed cocktail lounge.

This project will be a definite asset to the community and to you... your careful consideration of all facts is requested.
